Diario de la Marina, largest newspaper in Cuba, announced it would have to suspend publication for lack of newsprint.

The Welsh National Eisteddfod for 1946 will be held at Mountain Ash, Wales, in a pavilion with accommodation for 6,000 persons.

Since the beginning of the war more than 600 military and civil awards have been gained by British post office men and women, including 14 George Medals and one George Cross.

The foreshore, promenades and cliffs at Cromer, Norfolk, in "military occupation" since early in the war, have now been released and plans are going forward for the 1945 holiday season.

A Nazi-assembled collection of Jewish cultural treasures has been discovered in the Hessian village of Hungen, 10 miles south of Giesenberg, by Lieut. Robert Schoenfeld, Brooklyn, N.Y.

The first full-length film of Princess Elizabeth has been approved by the Queen and soon will be shown in schools all over Britain. It also will be distributed through the Empire by the Ministry of Information.

Lord Swinton, British minister of civil aviation, said there must be no national spheres of air influence after the war and that small nations as well as large must have a fair share of civil air traffic.

Dr. Harry Edmund, 83, world famous mathematician and expert on the magnetic compass, died in Berkeley, Calif. He was a member of the commission which surveyed the border between Alaska and Canada.

Junior Commander Mary Spencer Churchill, youngest daughter of Prime Minister Churchill, who went to Belgium with a heavy anti-aircraft battery early this year, has been awarded the medal of the Order of the British Empire.

Not Good Hiders

Nazis Were Not Able To Conceal Much From Allied Troops

First the Yanks stumbled onto German gold reserves in gold hoard, then billions in hidden money and priceless paintings. Then they found the Nazis who had stolen most of the manuscripts and art treasures belonging to German Jewry. And about the same time British troops came upon Hermann Goering's super de luxe custom-built automobile. Maybe the Germans did invent Santa Claus and originate our manner of celebrating Christmas. But they've fallen down badly on one tradition—they just don't seem to be able to hide the presents very well—Ottawa Citizens.

EVIDENCE FOUND

Excavations which it is hoped will reveal the foundations of a Roman dwelling have been started in the basement of bombed premises on Burgate street in Canterbury, Eng. So far broken pottery and a number of coins have been found.

WITHSTANDS COLD

Synthetic rubber exceeds natural rubber in its ability to withstand extreme cold without stiffening. This makes its use more valuable in the flexible fittings of high-altitude planes.

VICTORY LOAN HELPERS—Two young veterans of the Royal Canadian Air Force, Flight-Lieutenants H. Quigley and L. A. Carley, D.F.C., are helping Canadian Pacific Railway employees on the Saskatchewan district in canvassing for the Eighth Victory Loan. The young officers are seen flanked by H. C. Taylor (left), and R. C. Wheeler, superintendent of the Saskatoon division. F.L. Carley, not yet discharged from the R.C.A.F., is the son of H. T. Carley, C.P.R. conductor, Sutherland, and himself is a C.P.R. trainman. F.L. Quigley was a C.P.R. yardman at Sutherland before joining the air force with his pal, L. A. Carley, on the same day, August 1st, 1941. "We know the war is not yet won and it gives the boys in the fighting service a lift to know that the folks at home are buying bonds to support them," said F.L. Carley, veteran of the air fighting in Europe and India.

THE HERREW MONARCHY AT ITS HEIGHT

Memory Selection: Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord. Psalm 33:12.

Lesson: I and II Samuel; 1 Kings 1-11.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 122.

KINGS 9:1 And it came to pass, when Solomon had finished the building of the house of Jehovah, and the wall, and all the work which he had done which he was pleased to do, 2 that Jehovah appeared to Solomon the second time, as he had appeared unto him. 3 And Jehovah said unto him, I have heard thy prayer and thy supplication, that thou hast made before me: I have hallowed this place where thou hast built to put my name there; for ever and for ever thy heart shall be there perpetually. 4 And as for me, I have not walked before thee as David thy father walked in integrity of heart, and in uprightness, to do according to all that I have commanded thee, and to keep thy commandments, and to make thy people walk before me, ye or your children, and not keep my commandments, and not make thy people walk before me, but shall go and serve other gods, and worship them; then I will cut off Israel out of the land which I have given to them for an inheritance, and my name, which I have hallowed for myself, will I cast out of my sight; and Israel shall be a proverb and a byword among all people.

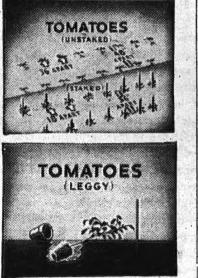

11 For it came to pass, when Solomon was old, that his wife turned away his heart after other gods; and his heart was not perfect with Jehovah, because he was not perfect in his ways. 12 Wherefore Jehovah said unto Solomon, Foreasmuch as this is done of the, and that thou hast known me, and my statutes, which I have commanded thee, I will surely send the Kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy servant.

PRASE FOR BAKERS

Dr. R. P. Vivian, Ontario Minister of Health, told the third annual conference of the baking industry of Canada, which was held in Toronto, that Canada's bakers had successfully filled the bread needs of the people despite wartime shortages of labor and sufficient ingredients.

Gardening Note

New Under Construction For Use In United Kingdom Colliery

Gardeners who plant tomatoes this spring can assure themselves a year round supply of fresh fruit. Garden experts say that rows of tomatoes should be 48 inches apart with 36 inches between the plants, except for staked tomatoes which should be in rows 36 inches apart.

The long tomato plants (the experienced gardener calls them leggy plants) ought to be planted in a sloping position with soil covering both stem and roots, leaving six or eight inches of the plant above the ground.

The Pekin Court Gazette, China, was 640 years old when the first newspaper was printed in Europe in 1524.

New Traffic Control

Now Under Construction For Use In United Kingdom Colliery

Automatic traffic control, miles under the earth, is provided by an equipment now under construction by a British firm for service in a United Kingdom colliery.

The new equipment is designed to operate automatically the air-lock doors which are essential to the whole ventilation system of deep mines.

It is so arranged that the stream of tubes carrying the coal operates a system of photoelectric relays which shut the air-lock doors as required to let them through. At the same time it automatically counts the tubes passing into and out of the air-lock.

This system of electrical control has great advantages over older systems and is expected to be applied to other forms of mining machinery including haulage and winding equipment.

A PROUD RECORD

The population of New Zealand equals about that of Detroit, Mich. One-half of the males between the ages of 16 and 60 are in the fighting forces, which number 250,000 men, fully trained and equipped.

FEWER KINDS

Civilian shortage of pocket knives is accounted for by the heavy demand for knives of all types by the armed forces. For every five knives that came to Canada from the U.S. before the war only one comes into the country today.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

Might Be Difficult

Many Complications That May Arise In World Of Tomorrow

Stockings made of steel . . . Suits that can brave a rainstorm and remain fresh, pressed and unrumpled . . . Lacy, ruffled collars and cuffs that can be dunked at night and need no ironing . . . Wool sweaters, wool dresses, wool stockings that can be tossed in the washing machine and never shrink . . . Chiffon nightgowns as strong as reinforced concrete . . . Slacks that never lose their creases . . . And of course those dear antiques, two-way stretch girdles and real nylons.

These are the things already promised in the post-war world of fashion. But what of the fascinating imponderables?

Will the New Woman appear as a Giri from Mars, in streamlined plastic clothing that can be wiped off with a damp cloth, change its colors with her mood and perhaps sprout a handy parachute when she wants to drop in on a friend from the community?

Husbands who used to grumble at Fifth Avenue shopping trips may now be prepared for bargain-hunting trips that involve a hop to Russia for new pink sables, a stop in China for a pure silk scarf, a little pleasant shopping around in Turkey for rugs, France for perfume, England for tweeds, Sweden for ski goggles and Hawaii for the latest thing in beach wear. Even Utopia may have complications.

Remarkable Discovery

New Weed Killer Destroys Weeds But Leaves Crop Unharmed

"A new and revolutionary weed killer, which kills weeds while leaving grass and cereal crops unharmed, has been discovered by research scientists in the United Kingdom. The weed-killer, which is known as Methoxone, is now being tried out on a national basis. An outstanding factor in this remarkable discovery is that weeds will be eliminated in the early stages of growth so that they have no chance to rob the crop of the food available in the soil."

Some pineapples have been known to attain a weight of 17 pounds.

Health League of Canada presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

SAYS CANADIANS APPROACHING CRITICAL PHYSICAL HEALTH PERIOD

The menace of disease is not lessened but aggravated in time of war, it is stated in a message sent to the Health League of Canada by the Earl of Athlone, Governor-General of Canada.

"We are approaching a critical period in the physical life of our people," said the Governor-General who is Patron of the League. "It is in our power to set up barriers of resistance against epidemics and adopt measures of health that will be a leading asset when we approach the hard work of rehabilitation.

The message asked support for the efforts of the Health League, a voluntary organization devoted to health education, from all who wished to have a part in building up a healthy and virile nation.

"I am greatly impressed with the progressive effort and widening influence of the Health League of Canada," the message said. "This organization, of which I am pleased to be President, is putting forward an increasingly valuable programme of public service to prevent disease and improve the health of the Canadian people."

The message was sent to the League on the eve of the February 4th opening of "Health Week"—a League project. The League's object in sponsoring such a "Week" is to draw attention to Canadian public health problems and to urge citizens of the Dominion to get interested in these problems as they affect their own communities and the nation at large.

OUR COMPLETE
SHORT STORY—*HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

By BOB WUNDERLIN

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Ranch Dickie picked up the letter for the fifteenth time, plumped his size twelve oxfords on his desk, leaned back in his swiv-back chair—and howled. Outside, nervously twitching his worn baseball cap, hideously Bob Kohler, prior rookie sensation, was laughing. He wasn't laughing. He was just smirking.

The tall, lanky, country-bred athlete, bronzed by the suns of a Florida training camp and his Iowa farmland, rubbed his arm as he sat beside the door marked "Private". Dickie, owner and president of the Red Birds Baseball Club, Inc., would call him into the office when he stopped laughing. And he didn't want to go inside. He had a sneaking suspicion that all was not well.

His thoughts raced back to the day just six months before when he had hopped off the Florida bus, near the training camp of the Red Birds. In his shirt pocket he carried a letter. His glove, neatly folded, was in his hip pocket; a pair of spiked shoes under his arm.

He had waited two years for this moment. Ever since the day when, pitching for East Valley High School, he had retired the enemy with no runs after the bases were loaded and none out. He remembered how the coach had slapped him on the back. "You've got a nice ball, Bob. You'll get plenty of chance to use it from now on."

And he had. Two more hit games and one one-hitter followed. His control was good. He used his head. East Valley High swept into the Big Six championship without losing a game.

In the summer that followed Bob worked as sports reporter for the Clarion. Then came another school year and another summer of work on the paper. They made him Sports Editor, a fact little known to raise in pay. That was the summer he sent the first telegram to Dickie.

He was graduated the next February, counted his savings and consulted time-tables. He sent off more letters and telegrams, then headed South.

When he neared the ten-foot fence that shut out the rest of the world from the winter-weary ball players, his heart was beating like a Cab Calloway drum. He still tingled at the thrill he had when he walked into the gate. Some forty or fifty dusty uniformed youngsters were trotting around the field in unison.

"Hey, you," a gruff voice bellowed. "Are you a ball player?" Bob looked up. A bearded, darkly tanned man in a gray uniform was pointing at him.

"Sure, sure," rejoined Bob.

"O.K., then fall in. Once around with the rest of them." Bob joined the runners, then followed them to the showers.

"Everybody back at 1:30 sharp," the man in gray shouted. "What's your name?" he asked Bob kindly.

Bob told him, handed over the letter he carried in his pocket.

"I'm Burt Shott, manager." The man extended a welcoming hand. "So you want to get into organized ball, eh? Had any experience?"

"I won eighteen straight in two years at East Valley!"

"Well, well. East Valley, huh? Fine. Believe I've already got some decent young men. Bob could feel the burning red creeping up the back of his neck. His cheeks were about to pop off. Shott studied a folder.

"Highly recommended, eh. Well, we'll give you a tryout. Report to this afternoon. He's handling the pitchers. Good luck."

His head whirling, his tongue dry and his legs weak, Bob sat on the bench. At last he was going to have a chance at "big time".

The next three weeks were nightmares. Pitching in a broiling sun; running, jumping, sliding in dust. But Bob stuck it out.

More than once he saw his pitches sail far and away. His team mates were weed out, one by one. Somehow he managed to stay. Burt and Ranch Dickie watched him occasionally.

"He's hard Shott say: "I don't what he's got, but recommended as he was, would better hang on to him a while longer. But with a name like Mathewson, he sure doesn't eat after the original." And Bob's ears burned again.

When the season opened, Bob was sitting on the bench, fresh uniform, gleaming. A photographer ambled over. "Gonna pitch tomorrow, Mathewson? Hey, I'm talking to you, Mathewson."

Bob looked up. "Oh, me? Yeah, I'm out. I want your picture." But Bob refused.

After a shaky start Bob settled down. Next batter up lofted an easy foul; Bob fanned the next two. He was on his way, gaining confidence with every pitch.

September found Bob with a record of fifteen wins against eight losses. A good record. And yesterday he had written word that he wanted to talk to him. Dickie's laughter stopped. "Oh, oh," he shuddered, Bob and braced his shoulders.

Betty, club stenographer, snapped her gum. "Here you go, big boy, and you'd better make it sound good."

The door closed behind him. "You wanted to see me, Mr. Dickie?"

Dickie came straight to the point. "Do you know a sports editor by the name of Bob Kohler - Bob Mathewson?" He emphasized the Mathewson sharply.

Bob colored. "Yes, sir. Very well, sir. In fact . . ."

Dickie stopped him. "This spring," he said, "you looked pretty putrid. We were going to let you go two or three times but then we realized you did prove valuable to us. Bob, I sent him a check for the fifty dollars we usually pay our scouts as a bonus for uncovering a player."

Dickie paused and smiled. "Last week I wanted to show my appreciation to that kindly sports editor who did prove valuable to us. Bob, so I sent him a check for the fifty dollars we usually pay our scouts as a bonus for uncovering a player."

"Well, yesterday that letter was returned, unopened. I couldn't figure it out until I glanced at the envelope again." He roared with laughter. Bob winced. "You old son-of-a-gun! You're Sports Editor Bob Kohler, aren't you? And to think that you fooled us by using the name of Mathewson."

Bob felt weak in the knees. But he rallied in a hurry when he heard: "Well, Editor, here's your bonus check and a contract for next year. I like

Which Makes Space Valuable To Buyers Of Advertising

Canadians in 1944 spent $35,263,000 for copies of daily and Sunday newspapers. That's an average of $678,519 a week or $2,940,250 a month.

All of which is eloquent testimony to the importance of newspapers in people's lives and the value of newspaper space to buyers of advertising.

An example of faith in newspaper advertising is the fact that R. H. Macy and Co., New York, used 85 per cent. of its advertising appropriation in newspapers. Its advertising in 1944 equalled 1,858 standard-size newspaper pages.

Should Be Protected

Birds Are Invaluable As They Help To Control Insects

Enemies are among the worst enemies of the human race. They destroy millions of dollars worth of farms crops annually in Canada and their destruction of timber in the forests is also very heavy.

The Department of Agriculture and the Forests Branch are constantly working to reduce the damage from this curse. So far this applies particularly to boys and girls the best help they can give is to protect the birds.

It is the plot is very tiny, but includes a wide variety of things which give the big bird yield. This means small, compact things like onions, carrots, beets, lettuce, radish, beans, beans, turnips, etc.—and many more.

With the first five items even 10 feet of row if given a little attention in the way of mulching and fertilizing should produce three or four good meals for the fair-sized family. And as the rows can be spaced a mere foot apart, a plot of land which will not grow a lot of crop. Spinach and beans take a little more space, but 20 feet of row will furnish several meals.

The real role of the small garden should be to supply the owner with fresh salad material—lettuce, radishes, onions, etc.—and many more.

It is the possibility of both flowers and vegetables during the summer months that makes the small garden a real success.

For a Quiet Start

One can get results quickly by using started or transplanted plants. Those received from the seed firm or florists or professional gardener. They are plants from seed sowers, usually in a hotbed or greenhouse, and when they are well hardened off outdoors as soon as danger from frost is over. They now come in a great variety of both flowers and vegetables.

One of the use of certain started plants is it possible to get flowers and vegetables matured in some parts of the country earlier than in other parts of the country. This is especially true in the northern parts of the country where the growing season is shorter.

Transplanting these from the flat or seedling stage we can get them one should water well and if the sun is hot it is a good thing to provide a little shade for a day or two. If the plants are very tall or in flower or are very tall it is advisable to snip off flowers and pinch back main stems to encourage stocky growth.

VALUABLE ASSET

The maple trees of Quebec are among the most valuable natural resources of that province. A great

HAVE NO SKELETON

Insects do not have skeletons in the true sense of the word, in the higher animals, but they have a tough outer covering shell, known as an exo-skeleton. The muscles of the insect in general are attached to the exo-skeleton and run from it to the appendages—legs, wings, antennae, mouth parts, and so on.

NEW PREMISE FOR PEACE

At the close of the last war, Clemenceau believed that "essentially human nature is always the same." And, human nature being what it is, he felt the only structure to preserve world peace would be a strong military alliance.

Woodrow Wilson, on the other hand, was convinced that "human nature had a new stage of development." And, moral progress being what it is, he felt that men could keep the peace simply through the structure of a league of nations.

Wilson's way prevailed. And failed. But Clemenceau's way had failed, too—throughout all history. Whether you undervalue it, as Clemenceau did, or overestimate it, as Wilson did, the fact is that human nature is inherently too weak to sustain a lasting peace. Human plans inevitably fail in human character. The only hope, therefore, is to change human nature. A peace conference, or league of nations will only succeed with new men.

The new premise for peace is that human nature has not yet changed but can. And there are notable exceptions throughout history to prove it can. If human nature changes we have new material to work with and the secret of a permanent peace structure lies in this new material rather than new blueprints.

Peoples are the raw material of future history. The successful peace plan must, first and foremost, find the way to develop this raw material. "Peace," as Dr. Frank N. D. Buchman says, "isn't just an idea. It is people becoming different." World peace will come through life changing on a colossal world-wide scale. No short cut can be taken. There is no less difficult way.

OUT OF OUR ABUNDANCE

This is our Eighth Victory Loan. Year after year we have subscribed with varying emotions. There were days when we did so, feeling almost that we were paying for life and liberty. Now we are asked to subscribe when we have a confident knowledge that victory is sure and not too distant.

There is encouragement in that change, but there is also ground for sober thought. As we come closer to victory, the tempo and the destructiveness of war increase. With that increase there is a growing cost—a cost in dollars that we can afford; a cost in young lives that it is impossible to estimate. This youth that is so gallantly offering itself has no demands that victory is easy, or that the need for sacrifice will be over when the present fighting ends.

The tragedy would be if we or they should confuse the end of open fighting in Europe with a real and lasting peace, or that, having set our hand to such a great task, the first sign of victory should lead us to think that we had sacrificed enough. Germany's surrender cannot end the demands that face us. There is another war in the Pacific, and even when that war has ended, victory will still be distant. There can be no real victory until there is some shadow of peace in a wartorn world. There can be no lasting prosperity here while there is bitterness and despair abroad. Our narrow world has made each one his brother's keeper, in his own selfish interests if for no higher reason. So our Victory Loans must assure us not only the success of arms, but the larger and wider success of peace. We are as much obligated and interested in paying for the one as we are in paying for the other.

There can be no comparison between one who offers his life and one who offers his money at interest. Yet to most of us, the loaning of our money and the small, immediate gains without which these entailments are the greatest contributions we can make for this war and for a lasting peace to follow.—Joseph Lister Rutledge, publisher.

WAR-CHARITY FUNDS CONTINUE

War-charity funds for Allied relief are being authorized within certain limitations to resume their operations. Through recent Prices Board regulation purchase and collection of goods by these groups was restricted to permit by the Department of National War Services. Now war-charity funds are permitted to ship their collection of used clothing and foods made before February 20th. Local voluntary organizations which applied for permits, including V Bundles, may acquire specified types of used clothing and footwear and other articles for shipment abroad. Also a national campaign for specified types of used clothing may be held by Canadian United Allied Relief fund.

More than 200 local war-charity funds have been given permits up to June 30th, to continue shipping new goods to relieve bomb victims in the United Kingdom. The Canadian Red Cross and IODE work programmes will continue.

Prices Board Chairman Donald Gordon explained suspension of purchase and collection of goods necessary to ensure claims of all relief organizations upon Canadian supplies should be co-ordinated with production and distribution covering war and essential civilian and relief requirements. Demand both at home and abroad exceeds supply of Canadian goods, Mr. Gordon pointed out. In addition to supplying our armed forces and the civilian population, Canada is being asked to share supplies among a variety of agencies servicing a common or similar purpose.

WHY THE PRINTER
LOST HIS ORDER

From an issue of The Times of April, 1920, comes a story from Missouri about the printer who got out some auction sale bills. It was a rush job, but unfortunately it came in to the printing offices just the day before prohibition in the USA was enforced. So the printer felt he must stoke up first against the long drought. He did so, and then he tackled the auction sale bill.

This was the list of goods and chattels which appeared: 25 cows broke to work; 41 head of cultivators coming in soon; 10 head of shoveling bears with scops by side; 8 piano mares; 120 rods of canvas belting, better than new; DeLaval cow with ice cream attachment; McCormick binder in feal; Poland China bobbed due to farrow April; 14 head of chicken with grass-seed attachments, in good working order; 2 J. I. Case riding heifers, good as new; spraying outfit, can be ridden by children; 155 billy goats, 70-bushed capacity, with spraying muzzle; many other articles too numerous to mention, which we expect to secure at night between now and date of sale.

The 30-year-old sloop HMS Rosemary is the only coal-burning ship of her type still on active service. She has steamed over 250,000 miles during the war and lost only two ships out of the hundreds of convoys she has escorted. She still has her original engines and boilers, and has not once broken down, nor has she had a major refit.

A.M.A. PROMOTES

SAFETY ON ROADS

Reckless driving on Alberta highways should be checked by effective measures, according to officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

In these times, everything possible must be done to promote safety in driving. This is demonstrated in the Dominion-wide campaign sponsored by the police chiefs' association, which has for its purpose the inauguration of a brake testing period.

Safe driving is essential in the interests of tire conservation and protection of the car equipment generally. Wartime regulations still are in effect and there is no indication that they will be relaxed for some time to come. That makes it all the more necessary to observe extreme care of the car to ensure a longer life for the vehicle.

High-speed driving is injurious to tires and also increases the operating cost of the car. Replace speed with safety and cut down the accident toll, says the AMA.

Blairmore is Proud of the Men from this Community on Active Service!

Wherever a group of Blairmore people gather these days the chief topic of conversation is the latest news of local boys on active service. It's the doings of our own men that brings the war home to us... that makes us realize that this is our war. We read the letters and follow their doings with keen interest. We are proud of them.

Let's Give Them Reason To Be Proud of Blairmore.

Wonder if men from this community boast about Blairmore? We hope they do. We hope they're proud of their home town; proud of the part that we, here in Blairmore, are playing in the home front war effort.

Let's make sure about this. Let's put our objective for the 8th Victory Loan over in a way that will make this community talked about.

Let's make Blairmore's Victory Bond sales good news for the Blairmore men over there.

British Colonial Policy

IT IS APPARENT THAT when we emerge from the present war, we shall find that the world has undergone great social, geographic and political changes, and that many of our former traditions and institutions no longer exist. Speculation regarding the nature of these probable changes has included much discussion concerning the future of the British Empire, and whether its structure will be affected by altered world conditions. There are some groups who believe that the Empire, with its widespread Colonial areas will not be consistent with the hopes for universal freedom as expressed by our leaders in the Atlantic Charter and on other occasions, and that the British Empire may be one of those institutions to undergo many changes when peace is restored. These opinions have come mostly from sources outside of the Empire, and Mr. Churchill and other British officials have frequently attempted to make clear their government's policy in this regard.

Col. Stanley States Facts

Among the most recent statements on this subject is one by Col. Oliver Stanley, British Colonial Secretary, who reviewed what he termed "certain misconceptions" about the Colonies. One charge with which he dealt was that "immense profits have been drawn from the Colonies by private British capitalists." While he admitted that there had been cases of large profits, Col. Stanley pointed out that there were also often big risks and big losses, and that if all the money invested in the colonies in the last fifty years had been put into Government Securities instead, the investors would have realized about the same return. On the other hand, he stated that private enterprise had contributed much to the economic and social progress of colonies where there existed neither the natural wealth nor the capital for such purposes.

Ideals Will Not Conflict Development has been termed "the corner stone of Britain's Colonial policy," and private investments, supplemented by public funds, have contributed effectively to building public utilities and educational and economic and social services in the Colonies. In 1940 the New Colonial Development and Welfare Bill was passed, providing for the expenditure of 480 million dollars by the British Government in the Colonies during the next ten years. In introducing this bill, Col. Stanley stated that there was little opportunity for "get rich quick" investments in the Colonies now or in the future. Britain's Colonial policy has been summed up as one of development, and of preparing the people to assume the responsibilities of self-government as soon as they are fit to do so. British justice and free British institutions have been set up in every part of the Empire, and there is nothing in its structure to conflict with the ideal of universal freedom and democracy.

Military Man Commutes Regularly Between New York And London

The New York Times says: At LaGuardia Field nowadays A.T.C. planes arrive from or depart for Europe at the rate of twenty-five hours. A military man we know commutes fairly regularly between here and London via Scotland, leaving for business on Monday and getting home for the weekend. The only hitch he says, is that when the British Isles are fog-bound it may take him longer to reach London from Scotland than to reach Scotland from New York.

Ambulance originally meant a movable hospital and during the Crimean war it came to mean a vehicle for the conveyance of the sick.

Best Of All

No Army Has Uniforms And Shoes Like the British

Joseph Driscoll, writing from U.S. 3rd Army in Germany, to New York Herald Tribune made this admission:

"No army in the history of the world ever fought through a war like this and a winter like the one just ended with such a low rate of non-battle casualties (meaning hospitalization because of trench foot, pneumonia, etc.). Our men weren't sick, so their uniforms must have been good regardless all the derogatory talk one hears."

We will admit our marching shoe is inferior to the British and the Germans when the difference seems to be in the matter of toughness leather. Though not a tanner by trade, I understand we turn the exterior coating of a boot into shoe leather in four days whereas the British and Germans take four months, resulting in closer pores and more water proofing.

U.S. uniforms as a whole are as good as any in the world, except the British. U.S. uniforms don't look as well as they should—I don't know why. The difference seems to be in the rough wool used by the British. If our uniforms with cotton facings get soiled with oil or dirt one on earth can get it out, whereas the British uniform can be rubbed clean. And they are warmer."

SMILE AWHILE

Mr. Smith: "I understand your wife is a finished soprano."

Mr. Jones: "No, not yet; but the neighbors almost got her last night."

Youthful Father: "Our baby is beginning to recite 'Baa, baa, black sheep, have you any wool?'"

Neighborhood: "And he's only eight months old?"

Father: "Well, he doesn't say all of it yet, but he's got as far as the 'Baa, baa'."

Rifle Instructor: "Do you know where you are aiming?"

New Recruit: "No, sir, I'm a stranger in this district."

Doctor: "You have nothing to worry about; the electricity in the atmosphere affects your system. That will be $2, please."

Patient—I guess you're right; I feel overcharged."

Collectors For War Relief May Carry On Work

OTTAWA.—The prices board, through the National War Services department, has announced that all organizations engaged in collecting used clothing, household articles, food and medical supplies for bombed out areas in Britain and liberated European nations may proceed with their work.

Some temporary limitations still apply. Large organizations such as the Red Cross and L.O.D.M. may go ahead until June 30.

Some 200 hundred local organizations may go ahead until next September collecting specified lists of used clothing, footwear and other articles for shipment abroad.

The announcement says: "New and used clothing, particularly from the services, foodstuffs, drugs and medical equipment together with a large tonnage of base metals for manufacture of kitchen utensils have been approved for purchase by the Canadian United Allied Relief fund and its member funds. Other items in their programs are being examined in the light of substantial and urgent demands upon Canada by Allied military relief and UNRRA."

The notifications are being sent by wire to all organizations registered as collectors of war charity funds and relief with the national war services department.

Under the new regulations, all used clothing and other articles of wearing apparel collected prior to February 20, this year, may be shipped overseas at once.

The new regulations reverse a policy which has been in effect since last January.

The National War Services department alleges it has been subjected to much criticism across the country because of the order stopping collections, whereas in reality, it was acting only under directions from the prices board.

The prices board explains that the original order to halt collection was due to the appearance of menopause among clothing and other goods for domestic use. The officials say they had to enliven the return of many veterans from overseas who would require civilian clothing; an order just having been issued whereby a returned veteran discharged to civilian life is entitled to a suit of civilian clothing and other required articles.

ARMY LEAVE RULES

Regulations Issued Governing Return Of Personnel From Overseas

OTTAWA.—Regulations governing the return of army personnel from overseas and defining the qualifications for leave and permanent posting home have been published in army orders.

The new order breaks down leave categories into rotational duty—instead of rotational leave—specific duty, long service leave and miscellaneous. The latter category covers casualties, medically unfit and unsuitable personnel.

Generally speaking, men in the rotational duty category with long continuous service outside the western hemisphere—time in actual operational theatres counting double—twice wounded men with three years overseas service or three wounded men will be retained in Canada.

Men on long service leave whose special qualifications are needed overseas will, however, be returned to their units after 30 clear days at home. Specific duty men will return after completing Canadian tours of duty.

Quotas for rotational duty and long-service leave are set by defence headquarters in Ottawa in liaison with Canadian military headquarters in London and at present the men are returning at a rate of 2,000 a month.

An example of how the leave is shared out as between long-service men at British bases and men in the battle areas, he said about four soldiers are returned from the front to each one returned from Britain.

NAZI AIR FORCE

What Was Left Has Been Completely Knocked Out

LONDON.—As an organized force the once dreaded German air force is dead. From various sources Allied officers have gathered evidence showing the German air force no longer is really directed by anyone.

What disjoined life it had left was knocked out during the last two weeks of incessant Allied attacks on overcrowded airfields.

Chinese Delegates

Dr. Carson Chang, founder and leader of the National Socialist party, one of the two members of the Chinese delegation to the United Nations' Conference on International Organization in San Francisco.

Dr. Wu Yi-Fang, noted educator and president of Gingling College, who is the only woman member of the Chinese delegation, is the other delegate which China has chosen to represent her at the peace conference.

Farmers May Produce More Coarse Grains

WINNIPEG.—The weatherman appears to be backing the Dominion agriculture department's policy of more coarse grain acreage in 1945 and less wheat.

Cold weather, with scattered showers and snowflurries, in many sections of the prairie provinces in the last fortnight has dashed hopes of early wheat seeding.

Already grain sources estimate seeding in Manitoba will be the latest in 1945. In Saskatchewan and Alberta it is not likely to become general in most areas until about May 5. In average years, wheat seeding is general during the last 10 days of April.

Grainmen say that even with good weather now from prospects are that cautious farmers will abandon plans to seed more wheat, turning to coarse grains. Such action would coincide with a statement from Agriculture Minister Gardiner in which he urged more oats and barley acreage to assure meat production. "Meat is necessary to the winning of the peace."

Preliminary estimates placed anticipated wheat acreage at some 23,000,000 acres. Factors that likely will reduce this are:

- Excessive moisture in the Red river valley of Manitoba, where hundreds of farmers are harvesting their winter wheat crop. The Manitoba department of agriculture reported that east of the Red river there may be large areas which cannot be seeded to early grains. Other fields can only be partially sown.

- Only poor to fair sub-soil moisture conditions in a large area in the western half of Saskatchewan and southern Alberta.

Elsewhere in the prairies the sub-soil condition generally is good.

SUPPLY PROGRAM

French Provisional Government Will Assume Responsibility For Their Country

LONDON.—Gen. Eisenhower has announced that from May 1 the French provisional government assumes responsibility for the entire French supply program. Hitherto, provision for supplying certain essential civilian needs to France has been handled by Allied supreme headquarters on behalf of the governments of Britain and the United States.

Twenty million lives and $400,000,000 were lost by the nations involved in World War I.

SHIP TORPEDOED

Fourth Canadian Minewarrior To Be Lost In This War

OTTAWA.—Loss by torpedoing in the North Atlantic of the Canadian minewarrior Guyborough with five officers and 48 men missing, has been announced by Navy Minister Abbott.

There were 37 survivors, eight of whom suffered injuries.

The 53 missing included one officer and one rating of the British Navy whose names were not given in the official casualty list.

Time and location of the U-boat attack were not given but a Royal Navy rescue ship took the survivors to a British port, which might indicate the ship went down nearer Britain than Canada.

Stories from survivors indicated the ship did not sink immediately and that at least two men got a fleeting glance of the U-boat's periscope before it left the scene.

Torpedo damage included the swamping of the ship's whale and hoisting of her launch and most of the losses were suffered in a grim 19-hour struggle with a rough, icy sea during which relays of men took turns on filmy Cleary-floats. Only six of 42 men who were crowded around one float lived through the long night and following day until the rescue ship arrived.

The ship was the fourth Canadian sweeper and 22nd Canadian warship lost in this war.

FIRST WAR PRISONER

LONDON.—First member of the British armed forces captured in this war was returned home from a German prisoner of war camp, from which his country's troops liberated him a week ago. He is WO. G. F. Booth of the R.A.F. He was shot into the sea and captured Sept. 4, 1939, the day after war was declared.

Your Duty—Buy A Victory Bond

WITH THE FIRST CANADIAN ARMY.—Since crossing the Rhine and entering Germany in the Ems river sector, the First Canadian Army has handled some 10,000 displaced persons, comprising most European nationalities. Most of these people, whether men, women, or children, were working in factories or on farms for the Germans before Allied troops released them from their forced labor.

These thousands of people, whose numbers are growing daily, are being cared for by the Canadian and British government detachments operating under the authority of the First Canadian Army. These detachments claim their facilities have not yet been overstrained by the numbers of displaced persons they have been handling. Foreigners in Germany are in theory divided into two main groups—war prisoners, who are cared for by liaison officers from their country attached to the Canadian army, as well as by Canadian military government personnel; and civilians, who are entitled "displaced persons" and are cared for largely by Allied government detachments.

Displaced persons from western Europe are being returned to their homes immediately. Those from eastern and southeastern Europe will be repatriated to their countries. The Allied Military Government detachment until the linkup with the Russian armies is so solid that they can proceed home to Poland, Russia, or the Balkans by overland routes.

FIRST IN BERLIN

Was Unit Of Polish Infantry Fighting With The Russians

MOSCOW.—The first infantry division to storm Berlin was a unit of the First Polish army—which had fought with the Russians all the way from the Vistula river.

Rola-Czimierzyk, commander-in-chief of the Polish armed forces, disclosed this in Moscow.

The Poles, whose capital of Warsaw was the first large European city to fall in World War II, celebrated the entry into Berlin with a reception at the Polish embassy.

C.P.R. ORGANIZE FOR V-LOAN—One of the biggest Victory Loan rallies of the division started the Saskatoon division, Canadian Pacific Railway, off in the Eighth Victory Loan when Superintendent R. C. Wheeler, in railroader's language, ordered "a clear board and full speed ahead." Canvassers from all parts of the division pledged all-out support of every man and unit and two Air Force veterans, both of them company employees, Flight-Lieutenants Lloyd A. Carley, D.F.C., and Harold D. Quigley, told how much bond buying encourages the fighting forces overseas. Above, top, H. C. Taylor, general superintendent, Moose Jaw, is seen speaking. Seated behind him, are, left to right: R. L. O'Brien, chairman payroll section, National War Finance Committee; R. C. Wheeler, superintendent, Saskatoon division, C.P.R.; R. J. McLeod, Saskatchewan liaison officer, National War Finance committee, and A. K. Warner, assisting Mr. Wheeler with the employees' buying campaign on the division.

Disputes Will Not Be Settled At Conference

SAN FRANCISCO.—Representatives of 46 nations have gathered in the auditoriums of the San Francisco Opera House, seeking something the world has never found—the way to permanent peace.

The delegates were launched on their task of planning collective influence that would prevent future wars by President Harry Truman who spoke by radio from Washington.

The president reminded delegates the conference had not been called to settle specific questions of boundaries, territories, citizenship or reparations. His warning, coinciding with what Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada told a press conference, dimmed the hopes of many lobbyists who came here hoping to have such questions settled.

Other voices were raised in expressions of confidence and hope that delegates will hold their polyglot tongues into one mighty voice for enduring tranquility among nations.

The delegates themselves appeared grimly determined to succeed.

Under the massive vault of the opera house, delegates listened to President Truman in silent awareness of the enormous duty resting upon them.

They listened, too, to a brief address by U.S. State Secretary Stettinius, temporary chairman, and welcoming words from Governor Earl Warren of California and Mayor Roger Lapham of San Francisco.

"No one of these nations, no one of the small nations," Mr. Stettinius said, "can afford anything less than success in this endeavor. Each of them knows too well what the consequence of failure would be."

NEW AGREEMENT

The United States Gets Water For Irrigation Under P.F.R.A. Arrangement

REGINA.—P.F.R.A. has made arrangements to give 2,000 acre-feet of water to help irrigate the sugar beet and alfalfa areas at Saco, Montana, George Spence, P.F.R.A. director, announced.

The water will be given from the P.F.R.A. reservoir at Cypress Hills and will flow down Frenchman river across the boundary to Saco at the junction of the Frenchman and Milk rivers.

P.F.R.A. is asking nothing for the water thus given. "It is a part of the good neighbor policy between Canada and the United States," said George Spence.

The area around Saco needed extra water when a dam, which was built on Frenchman river, was not completed in time to catch this year's runoff. The dam will irrigate 3,000 acres of sugar beets and alfalfa when it gets operating.

Arrangements for the water from the Cypress Hills reservoir were made when a delegation of four Americans visited the P.F.R.A.

P.F.R.A. was able to grant the project assistance because of accumulated reserves of water at its Cypress Hills project. According to agreement, Canada and the United States share international waters on a 50-50 basis. This means that P.F.R.A. can only divert half of the water flowing down Frenchman river, leaving the rest to go south of the border. More will go through now as a result of the new agreement.

PURCHASE OF BONDS

C.N.R. Canvassers Given Some Interesting Figures Regarding Payroll Deductions

WINNIPEG.—In addressing Canadian National Railways canvassers in Winnipeg in the final pre-campaign meeting prior to the start of the Eighth Victory Loan campaign J. R. Reid, War Loan Committee liaison officer, gave some interesting figures which indicate the value not only of cash subscriptions but payroll deductions for the purchase of bonds.

Mr. Reid revealed that the purchase of bonds through payroll deductions increased from $65 millions in the Second Loan to $225 millions in the Seventh Loan. He added the value of cash subscriptions in the Eighth Victory Loan campaign in the previous war had been equivalent to the entire sum realized in the Seventh Loan drive, which was more than $2.3 billions.

He congratulated employees of the C.N.R. for their excellent response in past Victory Loan campaigns and said he is confident that they will exceed their quota in the Eighth Loan drive.

"In putting the loan over the top you will be doing a job for yourself, your country and the boys overseas," Mr. Reid concluded.

"An army can move only as fast as its supplies." That truth is well established. Engineers and infantry need artillery support. All need ammunition . . . food . . . and they need moral support . . . proof that we, at home, are doing all we can to back them up.

Attack wins objectives. Support wins Wars.

And that is where we, on the home front, fit into the war programme. We must furnish support. We must buy more Victory Bonds.

Bear in mind that part of the money which Victory Bonds provide is used to buy foods which Canadian farmers produce and which is needed to feed our fighters and the fighting forces of our allies.

Victory Bonds are a good investment . . . the safest place that you can put your savings. You should buy them to have money for things you want to do when the war ends. (In case of emergency you can get cash for them.) All the money you invest in Victory Bonds comes back to you eventually. Meanwhile your bonds earn 3% interest.
